DETAILED ACTION

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 8 November 2007 has been entered, in which claims 1-8 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

As noted in the Advisory Action mailed 28 November 2007 for your review prior to filing this RCE, the specification only supports providing an electrical connection (page 5 lines 17-19). The specification does not support the newly added limitation "electrical connection ... includes the coil spring".

In addition, the Applicant's present specification does not provide a means for ascertaining what is meant by "conductive" coil spring. However, upon reading the commonly assigned patent (U.S. Patent No. 6292980, col. 14 lines 24-27; referenced on page 3 lines 3-4 of the present specification), the Applicant could have potentially meant for the term "conductive" relative to the coil spring as meaning expanding/compression movement (note: expanding/compression would be supported by the Examiner's rejection utilizing the Applicant's admitted prior art in view of Braxton).

Therefore since there is no mention of the coil spring being "electrically conductive" in the present specification, the proposed amendment is deemed new matter.
